INSTRUCTIONS FOR ENTERING THE YIELD COMPETITION

The designated area for your entry may be located within any field of any size from within your total corn acreage, and it may be the corn variety of your choice. The designated area should be at least two rows and a minimum of 50 feet in length, without which no corn will be picked.

Please prepare a map outlining the location of your plot and fill out the form located on the last page of this newsletter, or on the MCGA website. Make sure to include any other information on the map that would make your spot more easily identified. Please send all the necessary information, especially the row width and hybrid, as it is very important for calculating the yield and posting entries.

Please review the instructions and keep them in mind as you are scouting for the very best spot in your field. Even if you don't have your spot(s) picked out, you can still enter early! Morgan Cott will be picking the entries this year, so get your entries in as soon as possible so she can fit your entry into her schedule and plan accordingly.

Good Luck!!!
